While being entertained by the Gardeners' Association of Baltimore yesterday by an extensive omnibus trip through Druld Hill Park, Eutaw place, Broadway and Patterson Park, and a trip down the bay on the steamer Annapolis, speeches of felicitation and presentation were constant. The retiring president, J. C. Vaughan of Chicago, was given a gold watch. To Mrs. Vaughan the gentlemen of the association presented, through Mr. J. R. Freeman of 612 13th street, this city, retiring vice president, a handsome crown pin of pearls and diamonds. Mr. Freeman, it is said, made the hit of the excursion by the presentation address.

It required eighteen omnibuses to carry the 561 guests about the Monumental city.
At the end of the lades' bowling contest at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, Mrs. Freeman, who had entertained the ladies of the national association at luncheon, was sented with a handsome cut-glass bowl and silver ladle by her guests. Mr. Free man is generally favored as the next president of the S. A. F., the general impression being that he would have been elected this year had he not retired in favor of Mr. Beatty.

President W. F. Gude of the Washington Florists' Club says the convention has been an immense success from both an esthetic and business standpoint. Every one came back from the excursion heartily pleased, and throughout the convention the utmost good will has prevailed. The expectation is that the Boston floral exposition, to be held in March, will prove itself of the utmost value as a stimulatio and inspiration to the profession and an education to all. All the exhibits have been taken down except that of the Zanesville pottery, J. B. Owens Company, which will be displayed at the Masonic Temple during the coming week.

Authorities Puzzled.

A strange case came to the attention of the police authorities yesterday afternoon, when Officer Walsh, who does duty around Christian avenue, South Wilmington, was the workhouse, arrested Joseph Wilder. Wilder is a cripple, having little use of his legs below the knees. He moves along the ground by crawling. He was found yesterday at E and 15th streets southeast by Officer Walsh and was taken into custody.

When the case was taken before Judge O'Neal in the Police Court this morning he was undecided as to what to do in the matter. It was explained by the officer that the old man refused to go to the alms-house, although he was offered a place there. He has no visible means of support, and it is felt that something should be

NOT DEPRIVED OF PAY.

After reconsidering the case of Policeman George T. Hilten of the seventh precinct, who was recently suspended from duty on account of the charge of larceny made against him in the Police Court. Major Richard Sylvester, in an indorsement on the paper today states that Hilten was suspended from duty for the reason that his credibility before the courts would be impaired, thereby destroying his efficiency as a police officer. "I see no reason why he should be deprived of his pay," the major continues, "until he has been convicted of the charge now pending against him. The same action was taken in the case of Samuel A. Groff, charged with conspiracy, his pay having been stopped after his conviction in auditor of the District of Columbia for the month of July, but it was subsequently re-turned by the chief clerk of the police department with the inquiry whether it should the latter had performed no service during the month in question. Subsequently At-torney Robert E. Mattingly, Hilten's counsel, wrote to the Commissioners, character-izing the withholding of the policeman's pay as a deprivation of his rights without trial, and stating that the act was working great hardship to Hilten and those dependent upon him. The auditor referred the case to the major and superintendent of police with the request that Hilten's exact status be designated.

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., August 19 .-Both rivers are muddy here today. WHITE HOUSE VISITORS.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

Thousands of Strangers Make It a Mecca The White House has been visited by thousands of strangers during the past week, and they have had unusual advantages for seeing the places of interest in the historic building. For five or six weeks the building has been closed to permit painting and alterations, and no visitors have been admitted. Now that the work in the interior is nearly completed the building has been thrown open, even portions that are never open to the public inspection except upon special permission. The work in the east terrace has not been fully completed. As that is the entrance portion of the building it was decided, in view of the absence of the presidential family, to permit visitors to enter the north door, the private entrance, and this has been the rule during the week. All the private parlors have been open. The east room is ordinarily the only one open for visitors, but that and all three parlors and the state dining room and halls are at present open.

WARMER WEATHER PROMISED. General Humidity to Be on Duty Hereabouts Tomorrow. Gen. Humidity is scheduled to again interrupt the pleasant weather conditions in Washington tomorrow, and bring about to some extent the disagreeable sogginess which was experienced here about fifteen days ago. Prof. Frankenfield of the weather bureau said this afternoon that tomorrow will be warmer than today, the temperature going well up in the eighties. The percentage of humidity promises to be high, which will make the atmosphere close and oppressive, and there will perhaps be some

The temperature here last night went down to 55 degrees, which was very close to the record low temperature for August. Prof. Frankenfield said that on August 29, 1890, the thermometer registered as low as 49 degrees. This is not the coldest August we have had, however, for it is an accepted fact among the weather men that in the year 1816 there was frost every month as far south as Philadelphia. Not a single crop was raised in Pennsylvania that year on account of the lack of heat to ripen it. That just goes to show, you see, that while complaining of the heat we should remember the corn needs it and we need
